PREFACE

In presenting this volume I hope I have met in a way the demand for a Sprague genealogy. My research has extended over a period of more than ten years, during which time every effort has been made faithfully to carry out the plans for a more comprehensive family history than had hitherto been compiled. It will be found reliable, the information having been taken from authentic records and from oral and written statements of people who knew the facts. Mistakes doubtless have crept in, but it is almost impossible in genealogical work to avoid them altogether, as different persons in reporting the same record do not always agree as to dates, places and the spelling of names.

In the progress of the work constant interruption was unavoidable as it has been written between calls during the day and in hours borrowed from a physician's rest at night. Nevertheless the undertaking has been one of real interest to the author and the hundreds of letters received from others of the name testify to the appreciation of the effort. This together with the knowledge that the records are preserved in an available form is the reward. The volume doubtless would be twice its size had all those responded who were appealed to for information. If some future historian cares to extend these annals the field is open.

The arrangement of data and the abbreviations used in the following pages, will, I believe, be readily understood. A few words of explanation however may be useful. The numbers preceding the names denote the serial position of the various families in the book. It will be found that the children receiving numbers are placed as heads of families farther on in the record. The small exponent figure at the right of a name indicates the generation in America. The names in parenthesis following an individual state the ancestral line.

The writer is deeply indebted to Mr. Finney Sprague of Dayton, Ohio, for the extensive records collected through years of research and most carefully arranged by him, and to Mr.

1901-02

Frank W. Sprague of Brookline, Massachusetts, whose investigations have been invaluable; also to Dr. E. G. Sprague of Barre, Vermont, author of the Ralph Sprague Genealogy, and to so many others that it is impossible to name them all.

W. V. SPRAGUE.

March 1st, 1913.

The Spragues came into England from Holland, probably during Queen Elizabeth's time, or before. The name is derived from the Dutch word Spraak, meaning speech or language. Some early forms of the name include Sprag, Spragg, Spragge, Sprache, Sprake, Spreck and Spraick.

Judge Mitchell states that the Coat of Arms for the name was granted to one Hugh Sprague in England three centuries ago. (Letter in Hosea Sprague's Genealogy of the Spragues in Hingham, 1828.) The Coat of Arms as here shown is a copy of the one handed down through several generations to Mr. Charles Francis<sup>9</sup> Sprague (Charles<sup>8</sup>, Caleb<sup>7</sup>, Holmes<sup>6</sup>, Ephraim<sup>5</sup>, Benjamin<sup>4</sup>, Jonathan<sup>3</sup>, William<sup>2</sup>, William<sup>1</sup>) of Lynn, Mass. The painting presents evidence of being very old. It is known that it was in the possession of the family of Ephraim<sup>5</sup> Sprague (1763-1846) of Bridgewater, Mass. Whether it descended to him from his ancestor William<sup>1</sup> Sprague of Hingham is not known. A card in ancient writing accompanying it contains the following:

"He beareth party per fess, Ermine and Argent, in chief a Lyon passant, Gules. By the name of Sprague, granted to Sir Hugh Sprague, Esq., then living in Gloucestershire, England, in the year 1580, by Sir Wm. C. Clarencieux and from said grant descends to the name and family of Sprague."

FRANCIS SPRAGUE

of Duxbury, Mass.,

1. FRANCIS SPRAGUE came in the "good ship Anne" which sailed from London, England, and arrived at Plymouth, July, 1623. He was one of those "passengers" who, as Morton writes, "seeing the low and poor conditions of those that were before them, were much daunted and dismayed, and according to their divers humors, were diversely affected. Some wished themselves in England again; others fell to weeping, fancying their own misery in what they saw in others; other some pitying the distress they saw their friends had long been in, and still were under. In a word, all were full of sadness; only some of their old friends rejoiced to see them, and it was no worse with them, for they could not expect it should be better, and now hoped they should enjoy better days together. And truly it was no marvel they should be thus affected, for they were in a low condition, both in respect of food and clothing at that time." Governor Bradford, in allusion to the passengers who came in the Anne and the James, says: "The best dish we could present them with, is a lobster, or a piece of fish, without bread, or any thing else but a cup of fair spring water; and the long continuance of this diet, with our labors abroad, has somewhat abated the freshness of our complexion; but God gives us health." (New England's Memorial, Davis' edition, p. 102, and Young's Chronicles of the Pilgrims, p. 353.)

He m. in England, Lydia ——— (Gen. Dict. R. I. 69), who with their daughter came with him.

1623, Autumn. He shared in the division of lands with those who came in the Anne.

1627, At the division of cattle he gives the names of his children as Ann and Mary.

- 1627, July. Signed an agreement with William Bradford and others pertaining to the carrying on of the fur trade. (Gen. Gleanings from England, 1901.)
- 1632-3, Jan. 2. Was taxed at Plymouth, being assessed for 18 shillings.
1632. About this date he settled in the N. E. part of Duxbury, near the Nook, so called.
- 1637, June 17. Admitted Freeman of the Colony.
1637. Licensed to sell spirituous liquors.
1640. Owned land on North River.
- 1644, Apr. 1. Deeded to his son-in-law William Lawrence 50 acres on South River.
1645. Was one of the original proprietors of Bridgewater, but he nor any of his family came to reside there, says Mitchell. He was one of the original purchasers of Dartmouth.
- 1659, Oct. 26. Deeded land to his son-in-law Ralph Earle of Rhode Island.
1666. Was an Inn Holder up to this date and owned considerable property. Mr. Sprague did not adhere strictly to the enactments of the civil code of the Puritan Fathers and was several times brought before the Court for what they considered departures from the strict line of duty. His ardent temperament and great independence of mind did not fully accord with the principles of the Puritans, but considered from the present standards of estimating the characters of men, he must have been a person of worth and great respectability. We know that he was the head of a most honorable and respected family of descendants. Further mention is made of him in "The Pilgrim Republic," 1888, Goodwin, pp. 362, 596.
1669. His son John succeeded to his business of "keeping an Ordinary" or tavern, where spirituous liquors were sold, and it is presumed that his death occurred shortly before.
1662. The Court admonished good wife Tubbs (his dau. Mercy) for "mixed dancing"; she left her husband and in 1668 the court granted him a divorce. They had a son, William Tubbs, Jr., who m. 1691, Judith, wid. of Isaae Baker. (Ref., Savage's Gen. Dict.; Sprague Memorial, 1847, Soule.)

CHILDREN BORN IN DUXBURY.

- I. Ruth<sup>4</sup>, b. Feb. 22, 1701-2; m. Apr. 18, 1719, Samuel Keen.

- II. Zeruiah, b. Dec. 10, 1704; m. Mch. 19, 1723-4, Nathaniel Chandler who d. in 1741, leaving her a widow with seven daughters, one of whom, Mercy, m. (1) Peleg<sup>t</sup> Sprague; m. (2) Phineas<sup>t</sup> Sprague; m. (3) Ichabod Simmons.
- 10. III. Jethro, b. Nov. 30, 1709.
- IV. Terah, b. Feb. 17, 1711-2. He was living in 1748, but his name does not occur in Plymouth Co. Deeds, nor is mention made there of the settlement of his estate.

5. LIEUT. SAMUEL<sup>3</sup> SPRAGUE (John<sup>2</sup>, Francis<sup>1</sup>) b. about 1670 in Duxbury; m. Nov. 29, 1694, Ruth<sup>3</sup> Alden, b. about 1674, d. July 2, 1758, in Rochester in her 84th year; she was the dau. of David<sup>2</sup> Alden (John<sup>1</sup> and Priscilla (Mullins) and Mercy (Southworth) Alden.

Samuel Sprague was chosen constable of Duxbury, Mch. 6, 1700, and town clerk, Mch. 16, 1709, which latter post he held but one year. He was probably a carpenter by occupation, as the Town Records for 1708 show his receipt for the sum of one hundred and eighty pounds in full for erecting the meeting house in Duxbury. He moved to Rochester, Mass., about 1710; and d. there July 25, 1740, in the 71st year of his age. The widow Ruth Sprague and Noah Sprague were appointed administrators of his estate.

The descendants of this Samuel became very numerous for a time and were prominent and useful citizens in the communities in which they lived. For some reason the name became almost extinct and there are perhaps but few Spragues of this day who are descended from him.

1724. Capt. John Sprague with 22 sentinels marched from Simsbury, Conn. (Conn. Hist. Papers, iv, 12.)

1739, Capt. Sprague removed from Lebanon to Sharon, Conn. He drew the 37th home lot. He was a Selectman for several years, and what is singular he could not write his his name. The words John X Sprague are appended to many mark official documents on the Sharon records. He built the first frame house in the town. In 1748, he exchanged farms with Cornelius Knickerbocker and removed to Furnace Village (now Lakeville) in Salisbury, Conn. He afterwards removed to Canaan, Conn., where he died. (Hist. Sharon, Conn.)

* Thomas Burt owned "one half share in ye old Iron works" in Taunton, Mass. Two of his daughters were: Mary, wife of Samuel Sprague; Hannah, wife of John Sprague, Jr., all of Lebanon, Conn. (Bristol Co., Mass., Deeds xviii, 14.)

Patience<sup>5</sup> was the gr.-gr.-gr.-grand-daughter of Richard Warren, William Brewster, and William Mullins; also the gr.-gr.-grand-daughter of John Alden, Love Brewster and Priscilla Mullins, Mayflower Pilgrims. He m. (2) Bethiah<sup>4</sup> (Sprague) (Samuel<sup>3</sup>, Samuel<sup>2</sup>, William<sup>1</sup>), wid. of ——— Cushing.

He was one of the enterprising citizens of Duxbury; owned a farm and a country store, built schooners and had a summer hotel called "Sprague's Tavern." He was chosen constable, Mch. 20, 1748, but declined to serve; was on the petty and grand juries at Plymouth Court, in 1760. In 1761, in a small "barque" of his own construction, he with his wife and children and household goods sailed eastward and finally anchored at ancient Augusta in the then district of Maine. He settled at Cape Smallpoint in Georgetown, now in Phippsburg, Me., and engaged in lumbering and fishing. He bought and resided on the "Bliffins" farm which was partly cleared. From the following record it would appear that one time he was a tailor by trade. Sept. 4, 1773, Jethro Sprague, "Tailor of Georgetown," conveyed to his sister, Zerviah Chandler of Duxbury, three acres of land there which descended to him from his father William Sprague. (Plymouth Co. Deeds, lvi, 110.)

Sept. 22, 1803, aged 52.

The following account of Hon. John Sprague is taken from the Biographical Notices of Distinguished Men in New England, by Alden Bradford:

“He was born in Rochester, County of Plymouth, and was graduated from Harvard College, with the class of 1765, with the character of a good scholar. He studied law, and soon settled in the county of Worcester. In law, as in science, he was a great proficient, and his practice was extensive. He did not rank among the ardent and decided whigs of 1775; but when the Justices of the Court of Worcester County and the gentlemen of the bar were requested by the County Convention, sitting there in September, 1774, to suspend all legal proceedings, until there should be more content among the people as to the measures of the British towards the colonies, he and some others readily complied with the request. He afterwards supported the measures adopted by the patriots, for the preservation of the rights and liberties of the colonies, and had a seat in the General Court, as a member from Lancaster. Subsequently Mr. Sprague was the Sheriff for Worcester County, and Chief Justice of the Court of Common Pleas. He possessed the entire confidence of his fellow-citizens, as a man of probity and good judgment; and those who best knew him were willing to repose their highest worldly interests in his hands. He died [Sept. 28,] 1800, at the age of sixty years.”

July 25, 1789, Stephentown, Rensselaer Co., N. Y.; m. Feb. 14, 1764, Lydia Lamb, b. Feb. 16, 1743; d. Aug. 10, 1812, Kingsbury, N. Y., where she was living with her son Arad Sprague.

He removed from Lebanon or Andover, Conn., to Stephentown, Albany Co., N.Y. [When Albany Co. was subdivided, Stephentown was in the sub-division known as Rensselaer Co.] He was a farmer; owned and managed a saw-mill; was at one time Sheriff of Albany Co., and was a soldier in the Revolutionary War. He served as private in Col. Killian Van Rensselaer's (4th) Regt., Capt. John W. Schermerhorn's Co. of Albany Co. Militia. (N. Y. in the Revol., 1897, Jas. A. Roberts.) Mr. Sprague was a man of affairs. His home was in the vicinity of many of the stirring events of Revolutionary days, among others, Burgoyne's attempt to cut off the New England Colonies from what is now known as the Middle States, by moving down the Hudson from the north and forming a junction with Sir Henry Clinton, stationed at New York; the battles of Bennington and Saratoga; the destruction of military stores at Tarrytown; the attempt of Arnold to betray the American cause and the continual attacks on the frontier settlements by the Indians instigated by British agents. He was 33 years of age when the war broke out. The militia in which he served operated principally in Tyron Co., which at that time comprised a large part of eastern New York. This was the home of the six nations of Indians and constituted their hunting grounds.

There is a tradition that the Indians twice burned the home of Mr. Sprague in Conn. The last time the Spragues were able to save only themselves and the two children, whom they carried in their arms to Albany, N. Y. Mr. Sprague enlisted in the Revolutionary army at Albany and served until its close.

He was a private in Capt. Thomas Hicks' (4th) Co. of Col. Jacobus Van Schoonhoven's (12th) Regt., Albany Co. State Troops, which were called out at different times "to repel the common enemy." (New York in the Revol., 1887, Berthold Fernou). In the same Regt. with him were his brothers, Capt. Elijah and John Sprague.

He settled with four other families where Rochester is located and, being a miller, ran the first mill built in Rochester. Later he moved to Chapinville, N. Y., where he engaged in the milling business.

108. ELISHA<sup>8</sup> SPRAGUE (Elisha<sup>7</sup>, David<sup>6</sup>, Peleg<sup>5</sup>, Ephraim<sup>4</sup>, John<sup>3</sup>, John<sup>2</sup>, Francis<sup>1</sup>), Fabius, N. Y., b. Aug. 23, 1794, Stephentown, N. Y., adopted by uncle Simeon Sprague, who had no children; m. (1) Meh. 6, 1817, Milla Lewis, b. Jan. 11, 1796; d. Feb. 5, 1832 at Fabius; (2) Aug. 27, 1832, Mabel Lewis, b. Aug. 3, 1802; d. Oct. 22, 1833; (3) Sept. 29, 1834, Mrs. Myra (Lewis) Negus, b. Apr. 11, 1806; d. June 10, 1881, daughters of Benjamin, b. 1772, Pownal, Vt., and Jemima (Harris).

About the year 1800, Simeon Sprague moved to Fabius, Onondaga Co., N. Y., where he invested Elisha's share of the proceeds of his father's estate in 200 acres of timber land in the eastern part of Fabius Tp. Contracts were made with parties to clear and crop a portion of this land, so when Elisha became of age he had a good farm all ready to occupy.

He was educated at Pompey Hill Academy, making a specialty of surveying, which he followed for the next thirty-five years. His work extended over portions of Onondaga, Madison, and Cortland counties. At different times he held positions of trust, such as superintendent of schools, church clerk, town clerk and town supervisor. As there were no attorneys in that vicinity, he drew up the leases, deeds, mortgages, wills, contracts and other legal papers required in such a community. Although some of his papers were written nearly a century ago, they are today models in penmanship, good English and clear and accurate exposition.

He was frequently called in consultation in disputed cases to act as referee and to sit on boards of arbitration, which was the usual custom of settling disputes in that day. He was methodical and accurate, a man of excellent judgment, and probably did more than any other man in the community for the cause of education and of the church. He d. Aug. 15, 1862.

Dec. 18, 1839, at Cherry Valley, Ashtabula Co., O., in which county he lived until July, 1848, when the family moved to Sheboygan Co., Wis. Here he attended school and worked on his father's farm. Later he taught in the district schools, and attended Hillsdale College, Mich., to which college his father had obtained a perpetual scholarship.

At the outbreak of the war he enlisted in the 1st Wis. Heavy Art. as private and was promoted to corporal. On Oct. 7, 1863, he was appointed Captain of the 1st U. S. Colored Inf., and on Mch. 13, 1865, was breveted "Lieutenant Colonel" by Congress for gallant conduct in the field.

In April, 1866, he entered the Regular Army of the U. S. as 2d Lieutenant. He served in the States of Miss. and S. C. during the reconstruction period, and was at one time military mayor of Aberdeen, Miss.

His service in the war consisted of two trips into S. C. during the early part of the war, and with Gen Butler's Division in the general attack upon Richmond. His regiment under Col. Holman saw very severe service before Petersburg, where Capt. Sprague was wounded almost fatally while standing on a fortification preparatory to ordering an attack. He recovered sufficiently to return to his regiment about the close of the war. After his service in the South his wound troubled him so much that it was necessary for him to leave active service, and he was retired with the rank of Captain and later promoted to Major, which rank he held in the U. S. Army at the time of his death.

After his marriage, he lived in Chicago until April, 1871, then settled in Denver, Colo., where he engaged in the loan and real estate business, and took an active part in public affairs. While he never held any political office, he took an active part in many conventions, especially those pertaining to civil service and independent tickets in municipal affairs. Later his business merged into The Sprague Investment Company, of which he was organizer and president. For a time he was identified with the Prohibition Party, and was twice its candidate for Congress.

He m. (1) July 7, 1869, at Sheboygan, Mira I. Reed, b. June 20, 1843, at Roxbury, Me., d. Mch. 15, 1904, in Denver, dau. of John and Hulda (Dutton). He m. (2) Miss Eliza B. Lake of Aberdeen, Miss., who survived him. He d. Apr. 4, 1910, in Denver.

dletown, Vt., d. Aug. 31, 1891, at Charlotte, Mich., dau. of Sylvanus and Minnie (Haskins) Whitmore. It is said that Mrs. Whitmore was a second cousin to Millard Filmore.

At the time of his marriage Mr. Sprague's possessions consisted of a suit of everyday clothes, an ax, and a large amount of physical energy, good health and courage. His wife had been a school teacher at Hannibal since her fourteenth year. They engaged in farming and were enabled in 1826 to buy a farm of 100 acres at Palermo, N. Y., on which they resided about two years, then moved back to Hannibal and from there to Manlius, N. Y. In 1836, Mr. Sprague and his family and some of his brothers removed to Leroy township, near Battle Creek, Mich. This locality was afterwards known as the Sprague neighborhood. Feb. 22, 1842, he located on land near Vermontville, which he and his sons cleared and made into a good farm. Mr. Sprague made shoes for the family, and his wife spun and wove cloth for some of their clothing, bedding, etc. They were members of the Congregational Church. Mr. Sprague was interested in education, and helped build the academy at Vermontville, and contributed to the tuition fund of Albion College.

He was prepared for college at Fabius and Pompey Academies, and entered Madison University, now known as Colgate University, in 1846, and was graduated in 1850. He was cashier and bookkeeper for a dry goods firm at Buffalo, N. Y., from 1851 to 1858, when he moved to Oswego, occupying a similar position with Mack Brothers. He remained with the Macks until 1865, becoming a member of the firm during the last years of his stay with them. The work was not altogether satisfactory, because of long hours and close confinement, and in March, 1865, he engaged with Middlebrook & Son, lumber dealers, with whom he remained as cashier and bookkeeper four year. Upon the advice of a physician he removed to Cortland, where he remained two years. His health being restored, he returned in 1871 to Oswego and became cashier of the Oswego Starch Factory, which position he held for 30 years, or until the factory sold out to the "Trusts."

Mr. Sprague was an unusually fine mathematician, an important qualification in an accountant. He was active in church work and held various positions of trust, such as deacon, church clerk, and church treasurer. In 1890 he removed to Amherst, the home of his daughter.

- V. Christopher.
- 226. VI. William, b. 1609; he was about 19 years old when he came with his brothers Ralph and Richard to Salem in 1628.

Edward Sprague of Upway was a fuller by trade. His Fulling Mill was standing until recently. The church in which he worshiped is shown in the illustration. He died in Upway in 1614 and it was his request that his body be buried in the village church yard. His will was proven Oct. 13, 1614, in the Prerogative Court of Canterbury. It was discovered among the papers of Capt. William<sup>8</sup> Sprague (Joseph<sup>5</sup>, William<sup>4</sup>, Edward<sup>3</sup>, John<sup>2</sup>, Ralph<sup>1</sup>), of Leicester, Mass., who died in 1832 and was published in the second edition of Hosea Sprague's Genealogy of the Spragues in Hingham. The following is a copy:

THE WILL OF EDWARD SPRAGUE.

The Vith day of June in the year of our Lord God, 1614. In the name of God, Amen.

I, EDWARD SPRAGUE of Upway in the County of Dorset, fuller, being sick and weak of body, but well and perfect in mind, thanks be given unto Almighty God, do ordain and appoint

this my last Will and Testament to be made in manner and form following. That is to say, first of all, I do bequeath my soul unto Almighty God, my savior and redeemer, and my body to be buried within the church yard. As for such temporal goods as God hath blessed me withall, I give and bequeath as hereafter follows: viz. I give unto the parish church of Upway ten shillings.

Item—I give unto the poor of the said parish of Upway ten shillings.

Item—I give unto Ralph Sprague my eldest son one of the oldest pair of shears in my shop and one lesser pair called the quarrell.

Item—I give and bequeath unto my eldest daughter Alice Sprague fifty pounds, to be paid within one year after my decease.

Item—I give and bequeath unto Edward Sprague my second son, two pairs of shears and twenty pounds to be paid likewise within one year after my decease.

Item—I give and bequeath unto Richard Sprague my third son twenty pounds to be paid when he shall be one and twenty years of age.

Item—I give and bequeath unto Christopher Sprague my fourth son twenty pounds to be paid when he shall be of the age of one and twenty years.

Item—I give and bequeath unto William Sprague my youngest son twenty pounds to be paid when he shall be of the age of one and twenty years.

All the rest of my goods movable and unmovable I give and bequeath unto Christian [Christiana] Sprague my wife whom I do make my whole [sole] executrix of this my last Will and Testament.

MEMORAND: that if Richard Sprague, Christopher Sprague or William Sprague shall happen to die either of them before they shall be of the age of one and twenty years, that then their legacies to remain to the other then living.

Finally, I do appoint Henry Samweys and Willia[m] Bryar overseers of this my last Will and Testament in the presence of those whose names are underwritten.

At the date of the will, none of the six children were of age. Richard died without issue. Ralph and William became the heads of long lines of descendants in America. The three brothers, Ralph, Richard and William Sprague, came to Salem, Mass., in 1628 in the interests of the Massachusetts Bay Company, paying their own transportation. Soon after their arrival, they with three or four others were commissioned by Governor Endicott of Salem to explore the country about Mishawum. They undertook the journey, traveling about twelve miles to the westward through the woods on a neck of land between the Mystic and Charles River. This was in the country of the Albergengians, an Indian tribe with whom they made peace. Thomas Walford, a smith, was already living there. It is presumed that the Spragues wintered there in tents. In the spring of 1629 came Mr. Graves, the Company's engineer and Mr. Bright, the minister, and others. Mr. Graves laid out the town and the building of houses was commenced. They named the town Charlestown.

Hon. Edward Everett in his oration commemorative of the Bi-centennial of the arrival of Winthrop at Charlestown, in speaking of the Spragues said, "They are the founders of the settlement in this place" and "were persons of character, substance and enterprise; excellent citizens; generous public benefactors; and the heads of a very large and respectable family of descendants."

Hosea Sprague wrote in 1833, "The Tombstones of Lieutenant Ralph and Captain Richard Sprague, the first settlers of Charlestown, remain to this day; the inscription however is almost obliterated by the dropping of water."

ment," Henry H. Sprague, 1910,—a pamphlet of 39 pages in which Mr. Sprague concludes that the three brothers came with Gov. Endicott in the Abigail which arrived at Salem, Sept. 6, 1628.

WILLIAM SPRAGUE'S WILL.

IN THE NAME OF GOD, AMEN. The nineteenth day of October, in the year of our Lord God, One thousand, six hundred, seventy five. I, WILLIAM SPRAGUE, senior, of Hingham, in New England, being sick in body, but yet of perfect memory: praised be almighty God! do make and declare this my last will and testament, in manner and form following: Revoking, and by these presents, making void, and of no force, all and every will and wills heretofore by me made, and declared, either by word or writing, and this to be taken only, for my last will, and none other.

FIRST and principally, I commit and commend my soul into the hands of Almighty God, and my body to the earth, to be decently buried, at the discretion of my executor hereafter mentioned, hoping of salvation, both of soul and body, by the mercies of God in the merits of my Savior Jesus Christ. And as for such temporal estate as it hath pleased God to bestow upon me, I do order, give and dispose the same in manner and form as followeth—that is to say:

FIRST—I will that all those just debts and duties that I owe in right and conscience to any person whatsoever, shall be well and truly contented and paid by my Executor hereafter named out of my Estate, with my funeral charges, which I will shall be first paid.

ITEM—I give and bequeath unto Millesaint Sprague, my loving wife, the sum of Ten pounds in money, one Cow and one Horse.

ITEM—I give unto the said Millesaint, my wife, ten pounds per annum during the term of her natural life, (to be paid to her by my son, William Sprague, which I have reserved for her, as may fully appear by a deed of gift under my hand and seal to my said son, William, of my house and several lands and commons, as is therein expressed,) and the summering and wintering of one cow and one horse, and the use of one half of my dwelling house, and half the orchard, according as I have reserved upon the said deed of gift.

ITEM—I give unto Millesaint, my said wife thirty and five pounds which is due from me by my son, Anthony Sprague, to be paid five pounds a year until the whole be paid; that is to say, in case my said wife live till all the said payments be made to her; but if my wife decease, before all the said payments of thirty and five pounds be made, then my mind and will is, that what is remaining unpaid of the said thirty and five pounds at my wife's decease, shall be divided equally amongst all my children hereafter named, that is to say: my son Anthony Sprague, my son Samuel Sprague, my son William Sprague, my daughter, Perses Doggett, the wife of John Doggett, Joanna Church, the wife of Caleb Church, and Mary King, the wife of Thomas King, every one of them to have part alike.

ITEM—I give unto Millesaint, my said wife, all my household stuff and furniture, linen, woolen, and utensils of household whatsoever, for and during the term of her natural life: and after my wife's decease my mind and will is, that it shall be divided amongst all my aforesaid children, every one of them to have part and part alike. And all my cattle not before given in this my will, to be immediately after my decease, disposed of by my Executor, as followeth; that is to say: to my son William Sprague two steers three years old and the (?) and one cow; and all the rest of my cattle to be equally divided among the rest of my children aforesaid, every one of them to have part and part alike.

ITEM—I give and bequeath unto Anthony Sprague, my Sword, which was my brother Richard Sprague's, and one of my biggest pewter platters, and twenty shillings in money: which, with what I have given him before, in Land and other things, and his part of my household stuff and cattle, after the decease of myself and my wife, as is afore expressed, I judge a sufficient portion for him.

ITEM—I give unto my son John Sprague, a piece of salt marsh, lying at Lyford's liking river, in Hingham, containing two acres and a half, be it more or less, which was given me by the town of Hingham, to enjoy to him, and his heirs and assigns forever. And I do give unto my son John Sprague my searge suit of apparel, which with a Neck of Upland, called Sprague's Island, lying by the aforesaid meadow which I formerly gave to him, I judge a sufficient portion for him.

ITEM—I give unto my son Samuel Sprague my cloth coat, which was my brother's and one of my biggest pewter platters.

ITEM—I give and bequeath unto my son Jonathan Sprague, threescore acres of Land, lying in the bounds of the township of Providence, in New England, which I lately purchased of John Dexter, of the said Providence; which said threescore acres of land, I do give to my son Jonathan during the term of his natural life; and after his decease unto his heirs male, lawfully begotten of his body, lawfully begotten or to be begotten; and for want of such heirs, the said threescore acres of Land to return to the next heirs of the Spragues descended from me. Also, I give unto my said son Jonathan Sprague my best cloth suit of apparel.

ITEM—I give unto William Sprague one feather bed, which he used to lodge upon when he lived with me, and one of my biggest pewter platters.

ITEM—I do make and ordain Millesaint Sprague, my loving wife, my full and sole executrix of this my last will and testament.

In witness whereof, I the said William Sprague have hereunto set my hand and seal, the day above written.

WILLIAM SPRAGUE,

Signed, sealed, published and delivered by the above said William Sprague, senior, to be his last will and testament, in presence of us witnesses.

1662, May 23, William Holbrook, afterwards his father-in-law, signs the regulations and being one of the proprietors, is chosen one of the managers for that year for Mendham, afterwards incorporated as Mendon.

1662, Sept. 8. The Indian deed for 8 miles square, of Mendon is given to Peter Brackett and Moscs Payne.

1667, May 15. The town of Mendon incorporated by Gen. Court at Boston.

1666, Dec. 13. He married Elizabeth, dau. of William Holbrook at Weymouth.

1669, His father-in-law and probably himself rem. to Mendon.

1670, May 7. He was one of the 18 petitioners including his father-in-law to the Gen. Court at Boston, from Mendon, for freedom from rates for 3 years, which was not granted. In this year he built the first house in Milford (then part of Mendon) on the 20 acres he bought of John Bartlett and there he lived and died and his son William<sup>3</sup> after him.

1670-1, Jan. 1. Chosen constable.

1671-2, Jan. 1. At the meeting of Selectmen it was voted that there should be a division of the Swamps, and he received two tracts, being the owner of two proprietary rights, and the number of proprietors was then 34. He is also stated to be the son-in-law of William Holbrook.

1671-2, Jan. 1. His brother Jonathan was living near, and was chosen Recorder of Mendon.

1671, June 14. He drew the first choice in 23 at the "lot drawing" for the "doubling" of his "house lot, to be taken in two plains," the "M Plain" and the "Pine Plain." At this time there were 37 shareholders.

1671, Nov. Selectmen ordered that he be assessed all the rates on his lands.

1672-3, Jan. 1. Chosen "Fence Viewer."

1675, July 14. Mendon was the first town in Mass. attacked by the Indians in King Phillips War, and in the following winter "Deserted Mendham was laid in ashes."

1675, Oct. 26. His father William died at Hingham, leaving to his brother Jonathan, 60 acres in Providence, R. I. The settlers having been driven from Mendon at this time, Jonathan settled in R. I. At the breaking out of the war, he (John) and his father-in-law were owners of lots and heads of families in Mendon. They returned after the war was over.

1682, He sold his estate in Hingham.

1683, Oct. 26. He died at Mendon as stated in Ballou's Hist. Milford. His will dated Sept. 14, 1683, probated Nov. 2, 1683, shows names of children and his sons not then of age. Father-in-law William Holbrook to be overseer of will.

- 1684-5, Jan. 11. His widow Elizabeth is assessed for minister's salary 10s. 9d. Her name does not occur after this in annals of Mendon.
- 1703, Oct. 27. R. I. Hist. Records iii, 481. In the matter of Jonathan Sprague v. James Bick, appealed to the Gen. Assembly by the defendant, said Bick is said to have married the widow Elizabeth.
- 1686 to 1696. This James Bick seems to have been a resident of Mendon during which time he had a controversy with the authorities which ended with his being compelled to leave the town.
- 1695, Apr. 3. James Bick purchased from John Mowry, Jr., a farm in the "Inman Purchase," No. Smithfield, R. I., about 2 miles south of Woonsocket Hill and
- 1771, Apr. 27, James and Elizabeth Bick sold to Richard Phillips a portion of this farm. (Nar. Hist. Mag. vi. 80.)
- 1707-8, Feb. 4. At the 5th division of lands in Mendon, at which 200 acres were granted to a 40-acre lot.
     The son John drew the 4th choice.
     The son William drew the 24th choice.
     The son Ebenezer drew the 53d choice
     The four sisters drew the 18th choice.
- 1713, At the 6th division of 300 acres of cedar and other swamps, 10a. to each 40a. lot
     The son John drew the 75th choice.
     The son William drew the 106th choice.
     The son Ebenezer and his sisters the 96th choice.
- 1696, Sept. 9. In will of William Holbrook, his daughter Elizabeth Bick is given £12; therefore it seems certain that her 2d marriage to James Bick occurred between 1684-5 and 1696.

1671-2, Jan. 1. Was living near his brother John, and father-in-law, William Holbrook, in Mendon, Mass., and chosen Recorder of Mendon.

1675. Austin, in Gen. Dict. R. I., says his father died in this year and left him a legacy of 60 acres of land in Providence, where in 1680, July 16, he was taxed 1s. 7d.

1681, May 3. Made a Freeman of Providence.

1687. His ratable estate was, 2 oxen, 6 cows, 2 mares, a horse, 18 sheep, 8 acres of planting ground and 6 acres of meadow.

1687, Dec. 13. He refused to take oath as grand juror and was fined 6 s. 8d.

1695, July 2. One of a committee of seven, appointed by Gen. Assembly, to propose a method for making a rate, and also on a commission to run the eastern boundary line of the Colony.

1695, Oct. 31. Was one of a committee appointed to draw up a letter in answer to the Governor of New York.

1695, 1696, 1698, 1699, 1700, 1702, 1703, 1704, 1705, 1706, 1707, 1708, 1709, 1710, 1712, 1714, Deputy to Gen. Assembly from Providence..

1701, 1702, 1703, Justice of the Peace.

1703. Speaker of the House of Deputies.

1703, Oct. 27. The Gen. Assembly ordered, in re Jonathan Sprague v. James Bick, that "the said James Bick shall, by the next sitting of the Assembly, bring under the hands of the said three brothers, Anthony, Samuel and William (Sprague), or any two of them, their result on the paragraph of their brother John's will, what shall be allowed their brother Jonathan for what he did on his brother John's land at Mendon." This James Bick had married John's widow, who was a sister of Jonathan's wife.

1703, June 22. He was one of a committee of three appointed by Gen. Assembly to "draw up a method and proceedings" of a new Court of Common Pleas.

1703-4, Jan. 4. The Gen. Assembly having heard the report previously ordered in re Jonathan Sprague v. James Bick, ordered "execution should go forth against said Bick."

1705 to 1712. He was a member of the Town Council of Providence.

1706-7, Feb. 25. He and Capt. Joseph Jenckes were members of a commission of six to run the northern boundary line of R. I.

1707. He was Clerk of the Gen. Assembly.

1709, Oct. He and Maj. Jenckes were appointed to be assistants to the northern boundary line Commissioners.

1713, Jan. 16. He was taxed 18s. 6d.

1719, May 23. He made an agreement with his sons-in-law William Jenckes, John Teft, and Daniel Brown, deeding them his house and all his lands, they maintaining him for life and he to have choice of which son-in-law he would dwell with. They were to maintain his horse also and pay him £6 a year and £25 to such persons as he directed at his decease.

1719, Nov. 9. He deeded to son-in-law Ebenezer Cook certain lands.

1722-3, Feb. 23. He wrote a long letter to three prominent Presbyterian Ministers in Massachusetts, (viz. John Danforth, Peter Thatcher, and Joseph Belcher) in answer to one they had addressed to him and other citizens concerning the establishment of a Church in Providence. Mr. Sprague and his fellow Baptists failed to see the necessity of a Presbyterian establishment however. This correspondence may be seen in R. I. Hist. Mag., vi, 227-233, and in his letter he gives his views in very vigorous and unmistakable terms.

Morgan Edwards in his account of the Baptists states that he preached as an exhorter, but was not ordained.

1711, May 20. Proprietors of Mendon laid out to James Bick 25 acres which were a little above where is now (1891) Ballou's Bridge, and about the same time land to Jonathan Sprague, whereon he lived, which was near where is now (1891) the mill of the Harris Woolen Co. at Mill River. Bick afterwards sold his land, and Sprague part of his to William Arnold.

Dec. 6, 1825, dau. of Jeremiah<sup>3</sup> and Mary.

Note 1. William Wilbur<sup>1</sup>, immigrant, was a weaver by trade. He settled in Taunton, Mass., where he bought land, June 10, 1654. He served as juryman in 1671 and as Deputy to the General Court in 1678. He owned land also in Little Compton, R. I., and in Swanzey, Mass. He removed to Portsmouth, R. I., and Feb. 23, 1705, deeded to his son Benjamin all his dwelling house, lands and orchard there. His will was dated Mch. 1, 1710, and proved Aug. 15 following. His wife was not living at the time of his death. One of his children was

William Wilbur<sup>2</sup>, who resided in Portsmouth and later in Little Compton, R. I. He was admitted a freeman in 1678. On Oct. 31, 1677, he was one of the forty eight to whom five thousand acres of land was granted in East Greenwich. His will was dated Dec. 30, 1732, and proved June 20, 1738. He m. a dau. of Peter Tallman and she died before her husband's will was made. He d. 1738. One of his children was:

Jeremiah Wilbur<sup>3</sup>, b. Dec. 17, 1706; d. about 1773. Resided at Smithfield, R. I. He m. Mary ——— who was living June 7, 1773. His son Jeremiah<sup>4</sup> was living on his homestead in 1773, but about 1775 settled in East Hoosick (Now Adams), Mass. Another of Jeremiah Sr.'s children was:

Joshua Sprague was a native of Smithfield, R. I. But little is known of his early life. It is quite probable that his military training was acquired in the local military organizations common in those days.

Soon after his first marriage his father William deeded him "300 acres of land in Smithfield and Cumberland, and dwelling house on the easterly part of the homestead on the intervale on the west side of the Pawtucket River, also half the barn."

In June, 1762, after having disposed of his farm, he with his family followed the tide of emigration into Canada for the purpose of occupying land left by the luckless Arcadians who had been carried away by order of Gov. Lawrence, in 1755. The Sprague family took up a homestead of several hundred acres at the town of Sackville, which is located on the famous Tantamar marshes, "the granery of Nova Scotia." They resided here about fourteen years.

At the opening of the Revolutionary War there was so much feeling against the new settlers on account of their sympathy for their brethren in revolt (See Note 2) that they were forced to leave, losing all their possessions. Among these were the Spragues, who went first to the old home in Smithfield and later, about 1777, to East Hoosac (now Adams) Berkshire Co., Mass. (See Note 3.)

Mr. Sprague was enthusiastic in the cause of freedom, as also were his sons. He enlisted as private in Col. Archibald Crary's Regt. in 1776; had due him £ 20-12-10. (Spirit of '76 in R. I., 110.) In Mass. he served as Major in Col. Joab Stafford's (Independent) Co. of volunteers and fought in the battle of Bennington, Aug. 16, 1777. He marched to Fish Kill, June 6, 1778, to serve nine months in Col. Diamond's Regt., but was rejected as unfit for service. However, on Oct. 17, 1779, he enlisted as private in Capt. Ast Barnes's (1st.) Co., Col. Israel Chapens' 3d Regt., and was discharged Nov. 21, 1779, serving one month and nine days. (Mass. Soldiers and Sailors.)

Abigail<sup>4</sup> Wilbur, b. Nov. 17, 1731; she m. Joshua<sup>4</sup> Sprague. (See Gen. Dict. R. I., Austin.)

Note 2. For the losses sustained by these refugees from Canada and Nova Scotia, and for the services some of them rendered the

After the war Joshua and his sons, William and Jonathan, worked at the carpenter trade, building boats. In 1788 they left Massachusetts, going to Simrell's Ferry, on the Monongahela river. They brought their tool chest on a two-wheeled cart drawn by one horse. Here they expected to remain and build boats, but after building several they were persuaded to come with the company that arrived at Marietta, June 22, 1788. Mr. Sprague and his two sons took a contract of building one of the block-houses in Campus Martius, for which they received one hundred dollars.

In the fall Joshua returned to his home in Mass. and the next spring brought his family, also the wife and children of William and two of the children of his son Elijah (deceased). Twenty families in all accompanied him to Marietta. In April, 1789, the Sprague family went with the association that settled Waterford, on the Muskingum river. They helped build the block-houses and stockade called Fort Frye. Early in the spring

United Colonies or States in the Revolutionary War against Great Britain, Congress passed a resolution, Apr. 23, 1783, that "whenever Congress can consistently reward them by grants of land they will do so." An act was approved by Congress, Apr. 7, 1798, directing "all persons having claims under the said resolution" to transmit to the War Office within two years after the passing of this act, a just and true account of their claims to the bounty of Congress. Many were slow in presenting their claims so Congress from time to time extended the time in which the claims could be made.

Joshua Sprague and James Sprague, his son, and the heirs of Gilbert Seamans are mentioned as entitled to land under an act passed April 23, 1812 (2 Stat. 712), and that Joshua Sprague should be entitled to 960 acres; James Sprague 320 acres; and the heirs of Gilbert Seamans 320 acres of land in Ohio in what is known as the Refugee tract, which was four and one half miles wide and extended from the Scioto river in Franklin Co., east to a place in Muskingum Co. The district was set apart by act of Congress of Feb. 18, 1801. A patent was granted to Joshua Sprague, July 12, 1812, for W.  $\frac{1}{2}$  of section 24, Twp. 12, Range 21, containing 323.96 acres and another the same day for E.  $\frac{1}{2}$  of Sec. 23, T/12, R/21, containing 327 acres. 88 perches. It appears from the records that 178 patents were issued to various refugees, the first being issued Feb. 13, 1802, and the last, March 30, 1820. But few if any locations were made in the eastern part of the strip, it being in excess of the demands of the claimants. All that part not located upon was made a part of the Chillicothe Land District, Apr. 29, 1816.

William and Jonathan had gone up to Waterford and cleared five acres of ground and planted corn, which produced a good crop. They lived in the stockade seven years, or until the Indian troubles were over.

Joshua came into possession of a farm in Waterford Tp., on which he lived until 1812, when the infirmities of his years caused him with his wife to seek a home with their son Jonathan in Adams Tp., where their remaining years were spent. He always regretted that he went from Rhode Island to Canada. He said that he had a peck of silver dollars when he moved to Nova Scotia.

Mr. Sprague was of the hardy pioneer stock; in the military records his height is given as six feet and complexion light. He was a man of more than ordinary strength and energy, which enabled him to withstand the hardships and privations attending the settling of a new country. His descendants at the time of his death numbered one hundred and sixty-three. Mrs. Sprague, who was of the honorable Wilbur family of Rhode Island, is described as being rather tall of straight build and having dark hair.

After the birth of the first child, for some reason the parents separated, so Mitchell indicates, John<sup>4</sup> going to Block Island, and Susanna with their son John<sup>5</sup> to Warwick, R. I. All the other early Johns being accounted for there is but little doubt that it was this John<sup>4</sup> at Block Island who ten years later (it may be presumed that Susanna had died) m. Oct. 27, 1756, at New Shoreham (Rec. 5—465) by John Littlefield, Warden, Catherine Dodge. Their children were all named for his near relatives. Observe that when his first son John was seventeen years old he named another son John, a rare though not improbable occurrence.

316. SAMUEL<sup>5</sup> SPRAGUE (Samuel<sup>4</sup>, Samuel<sup>3</sup>, Samuel<sup>2</sup>, William<sup>1</sup>), of Avon, Franklin Co., Me., P. O., Phillips, Me., b. Aug. 5, 1753, in Mass., d. Apr. 7, 1835, in Avon; m. Sept. 8, 1783, Bristol, Me., Elizabeth Humphrey, b. May 1, 1751, d. Apr. 2, 1805, in Avon.

He was one of eight children, b. in Mass., four at least of whom were girls and prob. four boys; three sisters were named Lucy, Lydia and Rebecca, and one other sister m. a Hilton and lived at or near Bristol, the others at or near Duxbury. His father, whose name is unknown, died poor, and these children were bound out. They had a rich uncle whose name is unknown. Samuel was apprenticed at 14 years of age for 7 years to a ship-builder in Plymouth, but before he was of age he went into the Rev. Army; was under Gen. Gates, served 3 years and was discharged at Valley Forge and walked back to Plymouth. Two of his brothers, names unknown, were also Rev. soldiers, one dying in the service and the other returning and settling in Duxbury. Samuel and his sisters named above were all living in 1826. Samuel not getting work in Plymouth after his return from the army, went to Bristol, where there was some shipbuilding, but soon went to work for Capt. Soule on a farm; then took up a farm for himself in Avon and built a log house. He then went back to Bristol, where he married Elizabeth Humphrey and brought all his worldly goods from Bristol to Avon on the back of one horse, traveling part of the way by blazed trees. The above account and the names of his children were furnished under date of June, 1898, to Joseph W. Sprague great grandson, by Mrs. Rhoda (Sprague) Hamlin, a great granddaughter, now (1898) living on the Avon farm.

The following is taken from the Journal of Thomas Wallcut, published in "Massachusetts Historical Proceedings, xvii, 193-4:

Friday, 5th of March, 1790. Weather unsettled and variable.
 * * * Wind high and raw. About twelve o'clock William and John Sprague, Henry Bagley, and John Gardner (the same who escaped from the Indians) set out from Muskingum point in a canoe, to go hunting down the Ohio. Instead of crossing directly over to the garrison point and keeping the shore, they imprudently and unnecessarily went straight into the Ohio; and the wind blowing very fresh and making a considerable surge, the canoe being pretty heavily loaded, it overset about the middle of the Ohio in a rapid current, and all four of them came very near drowning. But by the timely exertions and assistance from the fort they were all happily recovered. If they had been a quarter of a mile down the stream they must probably have perished before any help could have been afforded them. * * *

James was a farmer. At the opening of the Revolutionary war he was fifteen years of age, and at that time came with his parents to Smithfield, R. I., from Nova Scotia. He enlisted as a private, Nov. 1, 1776, and served three years in Capt. Eli Leavenworth's Co. in Col. Meigs' Regt. of the Connecticut line. (Rec. and Pension Office.)

The History of Berkshire Co., Mass., says he was a resident of Adams, Mass., from 1785 to 1790. About 1794 he, with his wife Mary and five children, departed from their home (which tradition says was in Connecticut) to find another in Ohio. While proceeding with their wagons, winter set in quite severely, and by the time the Allegheny mountains were reached Mrs. Sprague became so ill that it was decided to wait until spring before going farther. Mrs. Sprague died here. When spring came the children, including Lydia and her husband, resumed the journey and settled at Otsego, Ohio. Phebe lived with her sister Lydia until her marriage.

Mr. Sprague remained in Pennsylvania until after 1800, having married there. He then came to Washington Co., Ohio, and in 1802 located at Wakatomica. In 1807 he and his son Samuel were pushing a canoe up the Muskingum river and he removed from Rochester to Hardwick, Mass., and later, before 1776 to Warren, Conn. He and his wife passed the latter years of their life with their son-in-law Jasper Barnes, at Monkton, Vt.

Mr. Spooner served in the French and Indian war, and later in the Revolutionary war, in privateer service on the sloop "Charming Polly" which was captured by the British, May 16, 1777. Mr. Spooner was taken with the crew to "Old Mill Prison" Plymouth, England, from which he later escaped and reached home. One of their children was:

when nearing the mouth of Wills Creek saw an Indian encampment and putting in to shore an old Indian offered to show them a good salt spring for $1,400. The offer was not accepted and shortly after the Indian showed it to a Mr. Mapes for a rifle.

In 1812 he with his sons Samuel, Jonathan and Elijah, cut a road from Symmes Creek to White Eyes Creek and to the Indian Village that occupied the same site now occupied by the village of Otsego, Muskingum Co., and moved there in May of that year, bringing the first wagon that was ever in Monroe Township. They planted corn on the site of the deserted village but it did not ripen on account of the early frost and they were obliged to procure corn from Wakatomica for the first year's provision. His first house was on the north-west quarter of

At New Milford, Conn., Frederick Sprague enlisted as private, Mch., 1779, and served till Dec., 1779, under Capt. Doan

Note 7. She and her twin brother John Nichols, were baptized Oct. 20, 1766, at the Congregational Church, Newport. Their parents were married there Dec. 23, 1750. John Nichols, Sr., was a sea captain. He was once shipwrecked on the Hudson and was away three years; when he came home he was not recognized at once by his wife and family on account of the full beard he had grown. His vessel went down at sea and he was drowned in Sept., 1768, aged 40 years. His family afterwards removed to Conn. They were staunch Church of England people.

and Col. Meigs, in the Connecticut line in the Revolutionary War. He enlisted again July 18, 1781, and served 3 months, 21 days as private under Capt. Clark and Col. Willett in the service up the Mohawk River. He fought in the battles of Stony Point and Johnstown. He was present when the American officers gave a dinner to the British officers. The day before the dinner was to be given a log heap was made, a large tree cut and the top side flattened for a table. The logs were burned and the next day bushels of potatoes were roasted in the ashes and served on the improvised table.

After the war he married <sup>in Connecticut</sup> and settled in Genessee County, N. Y., but "as times were very hard and Canada offered a free homestead to settlers, he with others formed a small colony, emigrated to Lake Simcoe, Ontario, and commenced building a home in that wilderness, never dreaming that there would ever again be war with England." But the war of 1812 came on and the government of Canada ordered all who would not take up arms against the United States to leave the Dominion by a certain time. Frederick Sprague was too patriotic and loyal a Yankee to take up arms against the government he had fought to establish, but living as he did in such a wilderness, it seemed an easy matter for him and his sons to evade the British officers. Once he was arrested for speaking against the British government. He pleaded that he did not speak against the government, but that he only said that Capt. Arad Smalley looked like a Yankee "out-house" (these buildings were often painted red). However he was put under bond not to speak against the Government or officials in the future.

At one time during the war Mrs. Sprague with her daughters Catherine and Mary were on Roach's Point, picking blackberries, when they noticed on the lake some Indians rowing towards them. They soon landed and with whoops ran after them, one Indian slashing the bushes with his long knife. This was great fun for the Indians, for they merely meant to scare them. After Mrs. Sprague and her children reached home the Indians came to the house and handed Mr. Sprague their guns in token of peace. After they left they killed one of David's oxen and escaped with the quarters.

After the war was over Frederick sold his claims in Ontario to his son-in-law, William Crittenden, and moved again to the States. On Nov. 22, 1816, he bought land near Buffalo, N. Y., and sold the same May 30, 1817. He resided in Chautauqua County until Sept. 3, 1818, when with his family and others he crossed Lake Chautauqua in a boat and floated down the Alleghany and Ohio rivers to Marietta, and thence up the Muskingum to Coal Run, where they located. The voyage consumed eight weeks.

In 1820, after residing two years in Washington County, Frederick Sprague and family removed to a Franklin County farm of 218 acres, which he had previously purchased from his brother Jonathan for four dollars per acre, to be paid for in eight years without interest. On this farm, located near the present town of Brice, he spent the remainder of his life. Frederick and his wife were Missionary Baptists. He was admitted in 1788 to the Baptist Church at Cheshire, Mass.

Frederick Sprague urged his children to secure as much education as the times afforded in those pioneer settlements. He also paid the tuition of poor children that could not otherwise have obtained an education. (The above history is largely from oral statements made by his daughter Mary Mariah Sprague to the compiler in 1899 and 1900.)

May 6, 1818, while living in Chautauqua County, N. Y., he applied for a pension, which was granted him.

Jonathan Sprague was a farmer and millwright. At the age of twenty-one he came to Marietta and with his father and brother took the contract of building one corner of Campus Martius. He was at the Waterford Garrison with other members of the Sprague family during the Indian war.

The Indians would often prowl around the fort and frequently shot at the men of the garrison while they were out gathering garden and other supplies. Jonathan Sprague, while out in

Two of their children were Nathan<sup>3</sup> and Gilbert<sup>3</sup> Seamans. The latter m. June 25, 1758, Providence, R. I., Martha Alger.

Elder Nathan Mason with his church members of Swansea, Rehoboth and Providence, including Nathan Seamans and his brother Gilbert, went to Nova Scotia. Nathan Seamans discovered and developed a grindstone quarry in Minudie on the bay of Funday, where some of his descendants are still living. At the outbreak of the Revolutionary War, Gilbert fled with the refugees to Mass., settling in the Berkshires at Lanesboro, where he joined the Patriot army. (His descendants say he served in the Revolution. See Note 2.) Later he brought his family to Ohio and owned a farm on the Muskingum River in Adams township in Washington Co. He d. in 1799 or 1800, his wife Martha surviving him. One of his eight children was Sabra<sup>4</sup> Seamans, b. Apr. 30, 1767; m. Jonathan<sup>5</sup> Sprague.

Note 9. Zachariah Morris and wife Ann (Boswell) lived near Alexandria, Va.; moved to Washington Co., Ohio, about 1804. His second son and fifth child was William Morris, b. Oct. 18, 1787; m. 1809, Hannah Newell, dau. of James Newell, a ship-carpenter of Berkeley (sic), Mass. The Newell family removed to Providence, R. I., where they resided until 1807, then came to Marietta, Ohio. William Morris was a farmer residing the woods with others, was shot at, and the bullet grazing his chest cut seven holes through his shirt. At another time the Indians drove off the cows of the settlers. Jonathan located them at an Indian village near a creek emptying into the Muskingum river two miles below Zanesville. The fort volunteered a company which was led by Jonathan Sprague to attack the village. They pushed a large scow up to the mouth of the creek and then proceeded on foot. The Indians were gone, except a few old men and squaws. They burned the village, tied the Indians to trees and then loaded the cows on the scow. They had just pushed out into the river when the forerunners of the Indians came to the bank and proceeded to follow them down the river. However the Indians were afraid to attack. The creek was named Jonathan Creek, for Mr. Sprague.

After peace was secured he located in Adams Tp. on the bottom opposite Coal Run, and in the year 1800 built the stone mansion which was occupied by him the remaining forty years of his life. In 1803 he built the famed Island Mill. A wing was built out into the Muskingum river to secure water power. The mill was operated by the Spragues until recent years, although it is not standing now. His saw mill turned out the lumber that was used in the construction of the famous Blennerhassett house, on Blennerhassett Island, in the Ohio River. There is still preserved in Marietta a walnut cupboard made by him with a "broad-ax and drawing knife."

Jonathan Sprague, while not very religious, was a man of strong moral character and his life was one of great usefulness to the community in which he lived. His hospitable home was ever made use of by the people who came from twenty miles around to have their grist ground. In stature he was tall, broad-shouldered and strong, though the Indian who shot at him

His first wife, Sabra, was a lady of fine accomplishments and of unusual vivacity. His second wife, Susannah, was the daughter of the first white woman to arrive in Marietta in 1788 (See Note 17). Jonathan's descendants are scattered through many states and are numerous and respected.

Wilbur Sprague came to Ohio at the age of fifteen years, and lived in the Waterford Garrison during the Indian War. Early in the morning of Mch. 11, 1791, when returning to the stockade after his chores, he was shot in the hip by one of a party of Indians who were in hiding. Young Sprague fell behind the stump of a tree which protected him until some of his brothers ran out and carried him in amid a shower of bullets. He was a cripple the remainder of his life. He helped bury the dead at the Massacre at Big Bottom. He was a farmer and settled in Olive Green Tp., about 1814. In stature he was large, as were also several of his children.

367. ARA<sup>6</sup> SPRAGUE (brother to No. 366), of Cleveland, O.; b. Aug. 27, 1793, d. Oct. 31, 1884, ae. 91; buried in Lake View Cemetery, Cleveland. M. (1) Almira Burgess, b. Feb. 22, 1810, d. July 17, 1834, dau. of Almon and Betsey (Hill); m. (2) Dinah E. Munger, b. May 20, 1809, at Mungers Mills (now Copenhagen, N. Y.), d. June 6, 1910, in Chicago, Ill., ae. 101. She was the oldest member of the Woman's Relief Corps and had spent her last years in Chicago.

In 1881, Ara Sprague left the following account of his immediate relatives:

"My father Asa Sprague married and lived 25 years in Spencer, Worcester Co., Mass.; settled on a farm and kept a tavern and store. All of his children were born in Worcester Co., Mass. He had 10—6 girls and 4 boys. All of them but Martha emigrated with him to Otsego Co., N. Y. Martha died of quick consumption and was buried in Mass. She was to have been married in two weeks. My father was one of the Colonial Pioneers of St. Lawrence Co., N. Y. He was also a soldier in the Revolution and served five years for his country—four years he was under Washington's command. He was wounded in his left leg and carried to his grave one of the buckshot as a memento of the battle of Trenton, N. J. He died at Dekalb, N. Y., at the age of 84.

My mother died at the age of 65—both are buried in the family grounds at Dekalb. In the graveyard are long rows of his children and grandchildren, with their names engraved in marble which is imperishable: Sister Ruth and her husband, Rebecca and her four husbands, Phila, her husband and five children, Olive, her second husband and one child. Since then Elisha and Martha have been added. Hiram was buried at Carthage, John Pooler in New York City. They are all dead but Julia Ann. Brother Asa's first wife and son Onias, his second wife and daughter Rhoda, all lie there side by side. The mortal parts of the rest are scattered, but I trust they are united in spirit life. To me in thought, Dekalb is but a graveyard.

All of my father's children but the two oldest, Martha and Chloe, lived to be over 76 years; all married but one and all had children but two, Martha and Ruth. Sister Chloe married Mr. Bishop and settled at Ashtabula, O., where she died at 62 and was buried there. She had 4 children—Morris, Asa, John, and Martha. They all lived to be married; all had children but Morris. Ruth married Elijah Farr in Richfield, Otsego Co., and settled in Dekalb, where she died at 73, having no children. Rebecca had four husbands and three children. She married her first husband Thomas Farr, brother to Elijah, in Otsego Co., and settled at Dekalb. By him she had one daughter, Almira. Her second husband was Daniel Smith, and they had a daughter, Louisa. By her third husband, Mr. Slawson, she had one son, Stephen. By her fourth husband, Mr. Phelps, she had no children. She died at Dekalb aged 86. Phila married Curtis Spaulding at Richfield, Otsego Co., and settled in Dekalb where she and her husband both died. She lived to be 82 and had 13 children: four died in infancy, and Dwite died at 17. The rest all married and raised families. Their names were Martha, Louisa, Emeline, Lemira, John, Otis, Schuyler, Wilson, and Dwite. Sister Olive married Mr. McCollom in Richfield, and moved to Cherry Valley and from there to Albany, where he taught school in the Academy until he died. By him she had two children, Julia Ann and Hiram. After his death she moved to Dekalb, where she married Mr. Pooler and settled on a farm. By him she had five children, John, Elisha, Emily, Cordelia and Martha; all married and raised families but John and Cordelia. Hiram had no children. They are now all dead but Julia Ann. My brother David married and settled on a rented farm at Exeter; a few years after he moved to Schuyler's Lake, where he bought and kept a tavern for many years. He sold out and built on his farm near by, where he lived, and died at the age of 85 or 86. He raised nine children—two boys and seven girls, Asa and Ara, Martha, Betsey, Ann, Polly, Almira, Rebecca, and Roxy; they all married and raised children.

✓ | Brother Asa had three wives, He married first in Dekalb where he settled and engaged in the dry goods business; had a potash factory some 30 years. He was also post-master, a soldier of 1812, and a Democratic representative at Albany, N. Y. By his first wife he had three boys and three girls—Onias, Aron, and Daniel; Julieta, Parmelia, and Clara; by his second wife, a daughter, Rhoda. By his third wife he had two daughters Helen and Emeline. He moved to Phelps, Ontario Co., and died aged 86. His children all lived to man and womanhood. Onias, Daniel, Rhoda, and Helen never married. The four girls who married had children. Ara had none: he died at Andersonville prison. My brother Otis married at Ballston Springs, where he lived a number of years and was engaged in a cotton factory. From there he moved to White Creek, Wash. Co., N. Y., where he was interested in a cotton factory. From there he moved to Troy, N. Y., then to Huron, Ohio, where he was largely engaged in farming till he retired from labor. He then moved with his daughter Lucy M. Skinner to Winona, Minn., dying at 78. He had 6 children—two boys and four girls; all married and raised children but Ara who died young. Their names, John, Ara, Silea Ann, Lucy Maria, Martha, and Almira. They were all born in New York state. Ara was buried in Troy, N. Y.

I was the youngest of my father's family. I was a soldier in the war of 1812 and served at Ogdensburg when the British sacked the town. I was also one of Cleveland's early settlers. I left St. Lawrence Co., in 1818, fully determined to earn my living and make my home in Ohio, which was then thought to be almost out of the world, and certainly as far west as it was safe to go. I landed in Cleveland with my knapsack strapped on my back, May 9th, 1818. It was then a small town of 172 souls. I made it my home 12 years, doing a little of everything to make a living. I married Almira Burgess there and moved to Gross Isle, Detroit river, where I bought a farm and lived 6 years. I buried my wife and one child there. By her I had three children—George, John, and Martha. I sold my farm and went to Huron, Erie Co., O. There I was engaged in the drug and dry goods trade: there I married my second wife; by her I had two children, Almira and Henry. There I had my store and house burned, and moved back to Cleveland, and from there to Mentor, O., where I now am and expect to live and die. I am nearly 89 and very feeble. I am the only one living of my father's family."

Boston 1881, III, Winsor, an autograph letter written Dec., 1864. From N. E. G. and Hist. Reg. II, 199, Apr. 1848, are taken the following lines written in 1837, after he had been engaged, with his only surviving brother George James, in removing the remains of their dead brothers to a new place of sepulchre.

We are but two—the others sleep
 Through death's untroubled night;
 We are but two—O let us keep
 The link that binds us bright.

Heart leaps to heart—the sacred blood
 That warms us is the same;
 That good old man—his honest blood
 Alike we fondly claim.

We in one mother's arms were locked—
 Long be her love repaid;
 In the same cradle we were rocked,
 Round the same hearth we played.

Our boyish sports were all the same,
 Each little joy and woe;
 Let manhood keep alive the flame,
 Lit up so long ago.

We are but two—be that the band
 To hold us till we die;
 Shoulder to shoulder let us stand,
 Till side by side we die.

This brother also died very soon after these lines were written.

A son, Charles James,<sup>7</sup> b. Jan. 16, 1823, in Boston, d. Aug. 5, 1903, in Hingham. In 1864 he succeeded his father Charles as Cashier in Globe Bank, Boston, and retired in 1882. He was a poet, botanist and author.

Mr. Roach received his education in the public schools of Ohio and Illinois. His young manhood was spent in the Dakotas, Idaho, Montana and the far West, where he was engaged in newspaper work and mining. Still unsatisfied with the outlook he turned eastward and made his way to Chicago in 1872—the commencement of a reformatory period in that city succeeding the ravages of the fire in which originated the careers of many of the strongest Chicago men of present middle age. He took the first living position which offered, that of a horse-car conductor, but six months of this occupation brought him advancement to a cashiership with the company, the North Chicago Street Railway. In 1879 he was made Purchasing Agent, Assistant Superintendent in 1887 and General Superintendent in 1890. Three years later the management promoted him to the position of Second Vice-President and General Manager of the Company. In 1897 he was elected Vice-President and General Manager of the West Chicago Street Railway Company, and the same year President of the Cicero & Proviso Street Railway Company. In 1899, with the consolidation of the north and west side lines, Mr. Roach was chosen to the vice-presidency of the Chicago Union Traction Company and in 1901 was made President. He has been President of the Chicago Union Traction Company, and its successor, the Chicago Railways Company.

since 1901, so that outside of the elevated roads, Mr. Roach now is the most powerful leader of local transportation in Chicago.

Mr. Roach has been President of the American Electric Railway Association and was chosen as the delegate of the street railways of the United States to the Paris Exposition but had to decline the honor because of the press of his official duties.

He is widely identified with the club life of Chicago and vicinity and is a member of the Union League, New Illinois Athletic Union, Marquette, Illinois, Hamilton, Chicago Golf and Exmoor Country Clubs, and Press Club of Chicago. He is a member of the Art Institute and of Medinah Temple, A. A. O. N. M. S.

426. ANSON<sup>6</sup> SPRAGUE (brother to No. 425), b. Oct. 3, 1781, Adams, Berkshire Co., Mass., d. July 9, 1856, Truro, Franklin Co., O.; m. 1806, Waterford, Washington Co., O., Susanna Sprague (fam. 332), b. Apr. 2, 1793, Waterford, d. Dec. 9, 1857, in Illinois.

Anson Sprague came from Conn. to the Waterford garrison (Fort Frye), Washington Co., Ohio, during the Indian war, about 1795. He later bought a farm on the west side of the Muskingum river, in Adams Tp., opposite the present village of Coal Run. Part of the frame dwelling erected by him is still in use, being occupied by William Devol, his wife's nephew, who at present (1905) owns the farm.

Probably the only public office he ever held was that of Justice of the Peace, while in Washington County.

He sold his property and removed with his family to a farm in Truro Tp., Franklin Co., O., in the fall of 1832, having erected a frame dwelling during the summer of that year. The farm lies in the Refugee tract, and on the west side of the farm on which his uncle Frederick had settled twelve years before. The land was heavily timbered, fertile, and quite level, with the exception of a rise of about fifty feet on the north end of the farm. This hill was selected as a building site. The house was constructed mainly of walnut lumber and has been occupied by four generations of his descendants.

Anson's early educational advantages were limited, being confined to the common schools of New England until the age of fourteen when he was thrown upon his own resources. He became a much respected citizen, though not a man who cared for public position, his interest being in his home and family. He was a zealous Christian and a member of the Church of Christ, and to this church most of his descendants adhere. The old family Bible, though well preserved, presents abundant evidence of use. He was of small stature, of a kindly and energetic disposition, and provided an ample accumulation for his old age.

5. Mary Ann<sup>7</sup> Richardson, b. Dec. 7, 1838; d. Mch. 20, 1879, at Shelburn; m. 1859, Charles B. Mullins and had five children. He was a Civil War veteran.
6. William E. Richardson, b. Oct. 2, 1840, Chillicothe, O.; m. Mch. 8, 1866, Annapolis, Ind., Marinda A. Bryan, b. Feb. 14, 1847, Newark, O., dau. of John F. and Drucilla (Myers) Bryan, and granddaughter of Frederick Bryan and his wife, Martha Lee, who was b. at Williamsburg, Va., and was a cousin of Robt. E. Lee.

William E. Richardson enlisted at Terre Haute, Ind., Aug., 1862, in Co. F, 85th Ind. Vol. Inf.; promoted to corporal at Danville, Ky.; taken prisoner with 1,305 others at the desperate battle fought at Thompson Station, Mch. 5, 1863; marched with the other prisoners several days through a drenching cold rain to Tullohoma, Tenn. Here they were each given a pint of corn meal for their supper and breakfast and quartered for the night on a flat piece of ground, covered with water. The next morning, which was very cold and windy, they were stripped of their overcoats, blankets and haversacks, and everything of any value, and were started for Richmond, loaded in stock cars. They were given small rations every third day, which was consumed at one meal, and after two weeks arrived at Libby Prison. After suffering the untold hardships of prison life, Mr. Richardson, with others, was exchanged and returned, the last of June, 1863, to his command at Franklin. For some time after this he was employed in guarding the Nashville & Chattanooga R. R. About Apr. 1, 1864, he was transferred to Sherman's Army and placed in the 2d Brigade, 3d division, 20th Army Corps, commanded by Gen. Joe Hooker. He was in the campaign at Resaca, Cassville, Culp's Farm, Peach Tree Creek, Kennasaw Mountain and Atlanta; in fact he was under fire one hundred days in this campaign. After the surrender of Atlanta he was promoted to Sergeant. Shortly before starting with Sherman on his march to the sea he was assigned to take charge of Gen. Dustin's non-commissioned staff of Headquarters Guards, numbering twenty-four men. Arriving in North Carolina he participated in the battles of Averysborough and Bentonville. While on the march to Richmond Mr. Richardson was disabled by an attack of rheumatism. While passing old Libby Prison, where he had been confined two years before, he had the satisfaction of seeing it full of Rebel prisoners. From here he was sent by boat to a convalescent camp at Alexandria, Va., where he soon recovered and rejoined his regiment. He was mustered out June 12, 1865, just after the grand review of the Army at Washington.

After the war Mr. Richardson became a successful farmer and now lives retired at Annapolis, Ill. Child (adopted):

Ralph Sprague bought a large farm near Terre Haute, Ind., about 1840, on which he resided until 1855; then moved to town. Later he built a large mill on the Big Raceoon in Bridgeton, Ind., and was a successful miller. In 1885 he sold his mill for $16,000 and bought a farm at Rockville, Ind., where he died in 1889.

Mr. Sprague was a very ambitious man and possessed unusual strength. In his younger days he had a number of fights but was never whipped. In 1858 in an encounter with two men at Terre Haute, Ind., he was shot through the leg, which necessitated an amputation above the knee. He was honest and liberal in his dealing, paid his obligations promptly, and had many friends.

David Sprague emigrated with his father, Frederick, from New York, and settled on the shore of Lake Simcoe, at an early date. These pioneers cleared themselves homes in a wilderness still inhabited by Indians. David is the head of one branch of the family now living in Ontario, as his father moved back to the States after the war of 1812. His descendants are noted for their honesty, industry, and strength of character. Their substantial homes and well kept farms have always been admired.

David Sprague was an estimable gentleman, and one of the stable men of the community; strong, self-reliant, and very kind-hearted. He engaged in farming in his earlier days, and was also a merchant and postmaster. His home was exceedingly pleasant and he was possessed of ample means to furnish him with every comfort. He presented each of his children with a farm. He was at the head of all the affairs and business of North Gwillimbury Tp., until too old to attend to it, when his son David and his son-in-law John Morten took up this work in his stead.

Early in life, about 1823, Jonathan was a flatboatman: he was in New Orleans during a yellow fever epidemic, and met with loss on the cargo from the stampede of all his men except one, Allen Devol, who stood bravely by him. The boat was sold for five dollars.

In his prime he was unusually strong and active. He was miller at the "Island Mill", to which people came on horseback from twenty miles around, boarding with the miller until their grists were ground.

He was captain in the 1st Regt., Ohio Militia, which met for general muster in Marietta and Waterford, in the early days; a Justice of the Peace from 1841 to 1844. No man ever justly questioned his veracity or integrity. He became a member of the Baptist Church in 1837, and was a deacon in the "Old Yellow" Church in Lowell for forty-seven years. He died July 6, 1890, at his farm near Lowell.

He occupied the stone house built by his father in 1800. Of him the Marietta Daily Register, Feb. 2, 1897, said:

"Elijah Sprague was no idle dreamer. His life has been an open book before all people. With a reserve force of physical and nervous energy, he was quick to act, determined, courageous. He was an arbiter in matters of dispute to all his neighbors; impartial, firm, steadfast, honest. His early years were spent among the activities incident to those days. He was an athlete, trained with close contact to those who pushed the keel-boat through the riffles, followed the chase of the deer, felled the forest timber, and followed the wooden mould-board plow."

In politics he was a Republican; in religion an earnest Methodist. He held continuous membership in the Washington County Pioneer Association.

His son, Horace O. Sprague, enlisted as private in Co. H. 92d. O. V. I., Aug. 8, 1862; promoted to Sergeant; d. of typhoid fever Apr. 16, 1863, in Carthage, Tenn. Buried at the National Cemetery, Nashville, Tenn. His daughter Delia taught school for thirty years. She furnished valuable records for this branch of the family. She and her sister Maud reside in Beverly; they own the old Sprague homestead left by their father Elijah Sprague.

He remained with his father in Washington Co., O., until he was nineteen years old, when he was married to Miss Devol.

In Nov. 1852, he removed with his family from a farm near Coal Run to Ill., locating on a farm two miles south of Kinderhook. He resided here eighteen years and after making numerous improvements on the land, sold out, and removed to Missouri, where he lived four years. Not being satisfied with the country he returned to Pike County and bought a farm on which he resided the rest of his life, enjoying the comforts which his thrift had provided. Mr. Sprague was a man possessing many excellent traits of character, a zealous Christian and Deacon in the Baptist Church many years.

Co., N. Y., d. Apr. 21, 1876, near Brice, dau. of Joseph and Ellis (Sprague) Turner. Mr. Sprague was a farmer and among the most trusted and influential men of his neighborhood. He possessed a rugged constitution and was the tallest of his father's family, being six feet, two and one-half inches in height. He was thirteen years of age when the family moved to Franklin County. After his marriage he still resided on the home farm, which he later bought and became a successful farmer and stock-raiser. His home was known as "The Hill." The only serious financial loss he ever had was in 1880, when his barn and granery burned, destroying all the contents including 6,000 bushels of corn.

Mr. Sprague was a member of the Church of Christ (known as the Disciples), at Reynoldsburg, from the date of its establishment, and served as one of the Elders, always being at his post of duty under the most adverse circumstances. The author has a very pleasant recollection of visiting him shortly before his death and remembers him as a dignified old gentleman with kindly ways.

He was a physician; grad. at the Eclectic School of Medicine, Cincinnati; rem. from Franklin Co., O., to Bond Co., Ill., about 1853, and to Greenville a few years later. Here Dr. Sprague married Miss Johnson, representing one of the oldtime, wealthy and influential families of the county. He was for more than a quarter of a century one of the leading physicians of Greenville, and as a philanthropic physician and Christian gentleman was probably as well known as any one in the county. He was one of the active agents in securing the building of the Vandalia R. R.; one of the organizers of the Christian Church of Woburn and Greenville; many times alderman of the city of Greenville, and also a member of the school board; a member in good standing at the time of his death of the Greenville Lodge of A. O. U. W. He was a strong supporter of the cause of temperance and honest and upright to a fault.

Mrs. Sprague lives (1906) in St. Louis, 2612 Park Ave.

Some time after his marriage Mr. Sprague established a foundry at Pomeroy, O., which he operated a few years. About 1849, he removed to Bonaparte, Iowa, and engaged in farming until the spring of 1852, when with many of his neighbors he organized an ox team train and started by the way of Council Bluffs and Omaha to California. The ox-train had several lively tilts with the Indians while crossing the plains, but generally outwitted them. He engaged in mining at "Hangtown" and Placerville. After four years he disposed of his mining interests in California and returned by way of the Isthmus of Panama and New York, to Coal Run, arriving there in 1856. Two years later he removed to Greenville, Ill., and bought a prairie farm of 240 acres, on which he lived until after the close of the Civil War, then sold out and engaged in merchandizing in Greenville. In 1870 he went to Taylorville, Ill., where he and Jacob Maxwell conducted a grain and implement enterprise during the next two years. In 1877 he went to Sedalia, Mo., and established a grain and coal trade, doing a thriving business until Aug. 28, 1884, when he was stricken with paralysis, from which he never recovered, dying in 1891. He was always a busy man, and a firm believer in hard work.

Dec. 8, 1838, at Lowell, d. there Dec. 11, 1862, dau. of Parley and Sarah (Tillotson) Rummer.

His early life was devoted to farming, and helping his father in the distillery and grist mill. After he went out for himself he pushed on keelboats until the river was dammed, after which he ran flatboats loaded with produce and stoneware from Zanesville to the Southern markets. He then in company with others bought a steamboat, was made Captain and was engaged in trade on the Muskingum and Ohio rivers, and one year on the Red river. This business was brought to a close with the opening of the Civil War. He has since been Mayor and Postmaster, and has held a number of minor offices in Lowell, where he resided. Feb. 22, 1894, he went to Blue Mound, Ill., to reside with his daughter Mrs. Ella Spooner.

During his river life Mr. Sprague had many narrow escapes especially on sinking vessels. On one occasion during a winter night at Cincinnati, he was on a flatboat which was accidentally sunk by the steamboat Sultana. In only his night clothes he floated one and one-half miles before reaching the bank of the river. At nearly ninety years of age his mind remained remarkably clear.

He rendered valuable assistance to the writer in working out the genealogy of some early Washington Co., Ohio, families.

Capt. Sprague was a follower of the river and was known throughout the Ohio and Muskingum valleys. For several years he superintended the improvements of the Muskingum, and from 1870 to 1880 was superintendent of the work under the State of Ohio. When the government took possession of this river Capt. Sprague was retained, and until 1891 had charge of the Muskingum, a part of the Ohio, and the mouth of the Little Kanawha rivers.

He built dams and hung all the lock gates along the Muskingum, and also built locks and dams for the Hocking Canal. His business was managed so carefully that not one man was ever injured in his employ. On matters pertaining to inland navigation Capt. Sprague was considered by river men as the highest authority.

Daniel Sprague was a carpenter and steamboatman until about forty-five years of age when he quit the river and removed with his family to Springfield, Ill., where he engaged in farming. By hard work and enterprise he was successful. He was of an ingenious turn of mind and made a number of inventions. After the death of his wife, in 1873, he returned to Ohio. He embraced the Baptist faith Dec. 3, 1842, but soon after this he united with the Disciples. Mr. Sprague was much interested in history, but his favorite book was the Bible. The latter years of his life were passed at Lowell.

June 12, 1832, in Washington Co., Pa., dau. of Samuel and Mary (Fesler) Martin. Mrs. Sprague m. (2) Sept. 1891, W. H. Hartman, and lives at Augusta, Ill.

Joshua B. Sprague took a course in the Homeopathic Medical College, at Cincinnati, and located first at Marietta. In 1865 he removed to Kinderhook, Ill., and the next year to Christian Co., eight miles west of Macon, Ill., where he bought a small farm for his sons. Viola, his eldest daughter, engaged in teaching, riding her pony three or four miles through the prairie grass to the schoolhouse. The people of their religious faith, the Disciples, were hunted up and brought together for worship. The doctor replaced his log cabin with a new residence, and a post office was established, called Randalville. Not being satisfied with the practice of homeopathy, Dr. Sprague went to Chicago and graduated at the Rush Medical College, in Feb., 1869, and some time later removed to Blue Mound, three miles distant, and conducted a drug store in addition to an extensive practice. After several years he became broken in health by the long drives and the hardships of the new country, and finally, to have less country practice, he removed to Springfield and fitted up an infirmary. He died at Springfield, Dec. 6, 1882.

He was a farmer, removed in 1854 to Charley Valley, Ill., and in 1856 to Iowa, locating in Highland Tp., Washington Co. Mr. Sprague enlisted in the Civil War and served until killed in battle. The following is a duplicate of letter from Geo. W. Harbin to Mrs. Sprague.

Edwards Depot, Miss., May 18, 1863.

Mrs. Sprague,

Dear Madam:

When leaving your home, in company with Mr. Sprague, to crush the wicked southern rebellion, aimed at the very life and heart of our government, by, if necessary, sacrificing our lives for our country's cause, I promised to make you acquainted of any accident that might befall Mr. Sprague. I had hoped that I would not be called upon to perform that duty. But, Mrs. Sprague, he was too brave and too sure a volunteer when duty called not to be exposed to danger. And it now becomes my painful duty to inform you that day before yesterday, May 16th, about 2 o'clock P. M., while the 24th was gallantly charging a battery, Mr. Sprague fell, by a canister ball passing through him at the pit of the stomach. This battle was fought about twenty-two miles south-east of Vicksburg, two miles from the Jackson and Vicksburg Railroad, and five miles from Edwards Depot. The 24th was called upon to charge a battery of four guns, and most gloriously did they do it, not a man finching. They took the battery and all their gunners, at the same time putting to flight four times their number who were supporting the battery, but, on account of the most disgraceful failure in the coming up of the troops who were held as a support, our boys were flanked on both sides by a reinforcement of the rebels, and compelled to relinquish their prize and retreat, to avoid being all taken prisoners. In this the Reg't lost 210 killed, wounded and taken prisoners, nearly half the number engaged. And our company lost 7 killed, 21 wounded, and two missing; of the whole loss only seven or eight were taken prisoners. It is a great satisfaction to me and will no doubt be a great comfort to you to know that he fell nobly and bravely defending a just cause. Without a murmur or a reluctant sign he charged the enemy to his country and fell by a shot from the battery he was trying to secure from their hands.

Never did a man die a more honorable death than the American soldier fighting to maintain the glorious liberty bequeathed to us by the blood and lives of our forefathers. And, though it be a bereavement, O how sad, yet you have the consolation of knowing and can teach his children that, when his country was assailed and destruction threatened to crush its existence and overthrow the institutions of liberty, your husband and their father stepped forward to its rescue, offered and gave his life to perpetuate these loved institutions to you and his children. Knowing this the tear of grief should be dried up and we his friends, should calmly submit to the will of God, in whom Mr. Sprague trusted with a religious and Christian confidence. And God has done as he in his infinite wisdom thought best for all concerned. Mr. Sprague was not only a Christian and a noble generous-hearted man, but he was a soldier. Never since he became a member of this company was he known to shrink from duty when called upon, if well. Enjoying good health and being robust and stout he performed a large share of duty in the company, at times perhaps larger than most any other man. He was respected by every worthy member of his company. We all feel that we have lost a worthy friend and brother and the cause of liberty a willing and staunch supporter. Yet we feel assured that our loss is his eternal gain.

I did not get to him till his pocket book had been taken by some one but, fortunately, he had but a very little money with him. I obtained a letter he had written to you a few days before the battle. I send it to you. I also found a ten-cent postage stamp which was in the folds of his pockets. It is a little stained with blood. Enclosed I send it also. We buried him on a nice grassy ridge, under a large shade tree, with several of his company comrades by his side. And he now sleeps peacefully and sweetly, having performed his every and last duty, nobly; and has entered upon his reward.

Any information you may desire it will give me pleasure to give you. Write and ask me any question you may desire.

Heartily sympathizing with you in your sad loss, I am respectfully and truly yours,
Geo. W. Harbin.

Direct to me Co. D, 24th Reg't. Iowa Infantry, via Cairo. I received a letter you had written to Mr. Sprague the next day after the battle. I opened it to find out where to address you. I return the letter to you.
Geo. W. Harbin.

He was a physician. His early education was obtained in the common schools and a course at Beverley, O. College, and subsequently a business course at Duff's Commercial College, at Pittsburg, in 1858. He then taught in the public schools in Washington Co., until the spring of 1860, when he went to Payson, Ill., and taught the following winter, and at the same time took up the study of medicine under Dr. M. M. Bane, of Payson. At the opening of the Civil War he enlisted and was appointed Hospital Steward of the 50 th Ill. V. I.; after serving over three years was mustered out and returned to Ill. He graduated from Rush Medical College in 1865, and followed his profession in Ill. until 1884, when he moved with his family to Pierre, Hughs Co., S. D. Here he soon gained a lucrative practice; was elected Coroner of the county; was a member of the pension board at Pierre; also Pres. of the City Board of Education almost continuously, and for six years served as visiting physician to the U. S. Indian Industrial School.

After fifteen years of frontier life, owing to the severity of the climate there he removed with his family to Kansas City. Oct., 1897, where he did a general practice. Aug. 11, 1902, he left Kansas City, and again located in Ill., at Hull, and after a short illness, partly due to exposure, his useful and busy life was ended.

At the age of fourteen he learned the printers' trade at McConnellsville under James A. Adair. He worked in Zanesville and Cincinnati, and later came to Marietta, working under Beman Gates on the Intelligencer. He was elected to the office of County Clerk in 1856 and re-elected in 1859. Following the war he was deputy clerk under Major Palmer. In 1867 he was defeated for representative by eight votes.

He engaged in the mercantile business and at one time had a handsome accumulation, but reverses came in 1873, from which he never recovered and the flood of '84 swept away what remained of his capital. He was a member of the city council and assessor for his ward for many years.

As Benjamin was a small boy when his father died he was reared by his grandfather Devol and Uncle Elijah Sprague. After his marriage he bought a farm in Adams Tp., residing on it one year, then removed to Coal Run. About five years later he contracted with the Government for four years to carry the mail by land from Marietta to Beverly. He lost all his property through this contract, on account of insufficient remuneration. He was then appointed postal clerk on the Muskingum river, from Marietta to Zanesville, and later as a railway postal clerk, after the road was built down the river. This position he has held ever since, with the exception of two years under Pres. Cleveland's Administration. He owns a very pleasant home in Marietta where he resides.

Edward Sprague was a warm friend of temperance, also a strong Abolitionist. While living in Aberdeen, Ky., he sometimes acted as conductor on "the Underground R. R." At one time a slave was captured and brought to the hotel where he was boarding. The captors were so elated over their success that they left the negro in the hallway while they went to the bar for a drink. Mr. Sprague was on the watch and signaled the slave to come out and then hid him in a smoke house. Mr.

Sprague was not suspected and after the slave hunters had gone on the search again he took the negro to the Ohio river and sent him across to freedom. Mr. Sprague was a farmer for many years but finally went to Weedsport, N. Y., where he engaged in the manufacture of gloves and mittens. After some years his health failed, causing him to close out his business. He was a class leader in the M. E. Church.

She divorced him, May 27, 1882, and resumed her maiden name. Her death occurred in Washington a few years ago. He m. (2) Mch. 8, 1883, Dora Inez Weed of Va.

His membership in the A. & W. Sprague Mfg. Co. brought him great wealth and power. The company employed in their cotton manufacturing plants 22,000 workmen and it was said that "whenever you saw smoke in Rhody it belonged to the Spragues." After his first marriage he built the historic mansion house, "Canonchet," on a 400-acre estate at Narrangansett Pier, Washington Co., R. I. This summer home containing 68 rooms was the most magnificent structure of its kind on either coast and cost $1,000,000. It was destroyed by fire, Oct. 11, 1909.

He was the (Democratic) Governor of R. I. from 1860 to 1863, and U. S. Senator from 1863 to 1875. In the Senate he was enrolled as a Democrat but usually voted on the Republican side of all important questions.

During the early part of the war Gov. Sprague was very active in raising troops in R. I. and getting them to the front. He was in the first battle of Bull Run and had his horse shot from under him, after which he assisted the men at the guns with incessant energy until compelled to retreat.

Since his retirement from business and politics he has lived in Canonchet and in Paris.

846. CHARLES E. SPRAGUE,
AGED 3 YEARS, 1848.

846. CHARLES E.<sup>s</sup> SPRAGUE (Caleb<sup>7</sup>, Holmes<sup>6</sup>, Ephraim<sup>5</sup>, Benjamin<sup>4</sup>, Jonathan<sup>3</sup>, William<sup>2</sup>, William<sup>1</sup>), b. Sept. 1, 1845, E. Taunton, Mass., d. Mch. 14, 1906, Lynn, Mass., m. Nov. 27, 1872, Wareham, Mass., Helen Maria Segee, b. Sept. 3, 1851, dau. of James S. and Sarah (Noble) Segee. Res. Taunton, Wareham, "all over the world," Lynn, 1880. Seaman and box mfr.

Mr. Sprague attended the public schools of Wareham, the Bridgewater Academy and the Powers Institute, finishing his education at the age of seventeen. In the year 1863 he shipped before the mast on the clipper ship "Highlander" bound from New York to San Francisco around Cape Horn. On the voyage from San Francisco to Liverpool they were captured, Dec. 25, 1864, by the Confederate Privateer "Alabama," and the vessel was burned in the Straits of Malacca. The crew were landed in Calcutta, India, and later sent home by the United States Consul there. Mr. Sprague later received his share of the money that England was obliged to pay to the United States for permitting the "Alabama" to be built. Remaining home only a short while, he re-shipped on the clipper "Herald of the Morning"; again for San Francisco, this trip around Cape Horn was exceedingly rough. On arriving at San Francisco, he embarked on the ship "Fair Wind," which was later wrecked on the Irish coast, the crew managing to reach shore by taking to the boats. After working in the City of Cork for a year he returned home in 1867. On arriving in Wareham he entered the employ of the Parker Mill Nail Company as bookkeeper: but shortly afterwards went to Ottawa, Kan., as secretary to the superintendent of the L. L. & A. R. R. While at Ottawa he was Deputy Register of Deeds. At the end of five years he returned to Wareham, where on Nov. 28, 1872, he married Helen M. Segee. While in Wareham for four years he was Selectman, Assessor and Overseer of the poor. In 1878, he moved to Lynn, Mass., where he entered the employ of Thomas Bros. Box Co., which business he succeeded in 1896, calling it the Chas. E. Sprague Box Co.

In Lynn Mr. Sprague found time to serve two years in the Common Council, two years in the Board of Alderman, being president of that body, trustee of the Public Library, and a member of the Water Board, member of the I. O. O. F., Red Men, Knights of Honor, Park and Oxford Clubs. He always took an active interest in Republican affairs.

Mr. Sprague was almost wholly self-educated, of a scholarly habit and much beyond the average man in his knowledge of mathematics, literature, philosophies, general law, politics and current events. In early life he was a shoemaker, later became the owner of farms and was a lumber dealer. He was a natural leader of men; foremost in developing the resources of his town; an ardent prohibitionist; a convincing speaker and a forceful writer; a strong, upright man who was universally liked and respected. He held various offices of honor and trust, whose duties he discharged faithfully and efficiently.

NICHOLAS SPRAKE

of Billerica, Mass.

937. NICHOLAS<sup>1</sup> SPRAKE probably came from England. There is a tradition among the descendants in Ohio that the family came from near the Scotland border. Nicholas Sprake was a family name in Hawk Church, Dorset, England previous to 1567. One Nicholas Sprague was buried in Kings Langley Church, Chipperfield, in 1679, aged 23. (Clutterbuck's Hist. Herefordshire.) Between the dates 1780 and 1800 many of the American Sprakes changed their name to Sprague.

Nicholas Sprake lived near the falls in North Billerica, Mass. His name disappears from the tax lists in 1740. He m. (1) ———; m. (2) June 1, 1724, in Billerica, Mrs. Rebecca Shed, b. there May 21, 1685, d. ———, wid. of Daniel Shed and dau. of Thomas and Rebecca (Draper) Dutton. No children of this marriage are recorded in Billerica. With him was:

938. I. "Nicholas<sup>2</sup> Sprake, Jr." who m. Aug. 21, 1721, Elizabeth Burge.

The children of another Nicholas<sup>1</sup> Sprake and wife Margaret are recorded in Billerica. Who his father was is not known, but this Nicholas (Nicholas, Tertius, in the records) was of the same generation as "Nicholas, Jr., who m. Sarah Walker in 1752. He died July 11, 1784. His wid. Margaret administered his estate in that year. She was still living in 1794 and made a deed at that time.

“This a true copy: taken out by Me.”

NATHANIEL PEARSALL, Clark.

From the History of Long Island (1845), Nathaniel S. Prince, p. 279:

Prince says the first settlers of Hempstead were English immigrants who had resided temporarily at different places in New England and last at Stamford, Conn. In 1643 they sent agents to Long Island who made a purchase from the natives and a small company came over (the sound) in the Spring of 1644 and commenced a settlement, and Nov. 16, 1644, a patent was granted by the Dutch Governor. In 3 years (1647) from that date there were 60 Land holders and in 1685, 160 taxable inhabitants.

(From Finney Sprague notes.)

It is probable that there were three different Edwards in the foregoing account; that the first Edward<sup>1</sup> was dead before May 2, 1702, and that he had a son Edward<sup>2</sup>, who married before Nov. 4, 1692, Mary ———, and had a son Edward<sup>3</sup>, Jr.

970. JOHN<sup>1</sup> SPRAGG, of Hempstead, Long Island, b. abt. 1660. On the records of the Town of Hempstead as early as 1657 and later, appears the name of Edward (Sprag, Spragg, Sprage) and 1684, Nov. 23, p. 486. (Rec. C, p. 119), the following, verbatim et literatim:

John Sprage—"Att a town meting held in hempsted this 23 of November 1684 There was Given to Mr John Sprage Secretary of New York to him his Heires and Asines ffor Ever A Hundred and ffifty Akers of Land to Joyne to his Loot yt hee bought of Mr Douty his ffront to come up to the plaines And the remainder as per Seeth Convenient not hindering Water Corses or highways" Recorded by Mee Josias Starr Clark.

(Ref. Hempstead, L. I., No. and So. records of town (1896), p. 486.)

1682, May 24. (Rec. C, 9.) John Spreag was one of 82 persons who engaged to give yearly towards the support of minister Jeremy Hubbard, Spreag wrote for 10 shillings.

1685, Aug. 21. (Rec. C, 123.) At town meeting "the Inhabitants of Hempsted did owne and confirme to Mr. John Sprag the hundred and fifty akers of land formerly Given him."

1685, Aug. 27. (Rec. C, 125.) This tract including 130 acres referred to as having been bought of Mr. Douty, making in all 280 acres, was surveyed by Philip Wels, Survayer and the discription thereof was recorded. The place was named "Boskabell."

In the Memorial History of New York City, 1892, James Grant Wilson, are found the following in regard to him:

1683, Aug. 25. (i, 403). Governor Thomas Dongan arrived at New York City and John Spragg soon thereafter became the first Secretary of the Colony under him.

1683, Oct. 17 (i, 406). The newly elected Assembly met and John Spragg was made Clerk.

1684. Oct. (i, 419). Robert Hammond was chosen Clerk to succeed him.

1687. (i, 424, 430). Governor Dongan made a lengthy report to the home Government, the Lords of the Board of Trade, and sent it with a map and dispatches to England by messengers John Spragg and Jervis Baxter.

- 1686, Apr. 27 (i, 425). The new engrossed Charter of New York City was read and allowed in Council and the Corporation voted £300 to Governor Dongan and £24 to John Spragg as their official fees.
- 1686, June 10. John Spragg was sworn to service as Counsellor to Governor Dongan. (Hist. of New York City, 1877, Mrs. Martha J. Lamb, p. 323.)
- 1686-7, Mar. 7. John Spragge, the Secretary, was one of the patentees for certain lands in Harlem. He was at one time the owner of the Marsten farm, 30 acres in Harlem, which he purchased Oct. 12, 1686, from John Baignoux. In the year following he sailed for England with dispatches from Governor Dongan and appears not to have returned to America. From there he sold the farm, Dec. 7, 1690, to Dr. Daniel Cox of London. (Harlem Annals, 1881, James Riker, pp. 428, 33, 41, 45, 64, 65, 66, 67, 596.)

Michael Vaughton was a custom house officer, a friend of Gov. Dongan and a half-brother of John Spragg, Secretary of the Province. He married Susanna Leisler, dau. of Jacob and Elsie (Tymens). The latter was dau. of Tymen and Maritje (Jans) Jansen.

In Collections of N. Y. Colonial Hist. Documents, we find mention in Vol. iii, pp. 364, 369, 376, 390, 396, 397, 403, 406, 407, 409, 416, 417, 421, 423, 426, here given briefly in Chronological Order:

- 1685, Aug. 11. Gov. Dongan writes to Secretary Blathwayt of His Majestie's government, that "Mr. Sprag the Secretary—will goe to England this winter to carry the laws that were last made."
- 1686, May 29. In instructions from the King to Gov. Dongan, he is directed to administer oath to John Spragg as a member of his Council.

1686, June 13. The Council of the King directs John Spragg, Secretary, etc., to make quarterly reports.

1686-7. In the lengthy report of Gov. Dongan Mr. Sprag is referred to as his messenger to England, bearing a list of Patents, granted in the Colony, also of the minutes of the Council, also of sums of money for purchase of supplies and payment of debts of the Governor, also as bearer of Spragg's own and Gabriel Minville's testimony in a matter in behalf of the Governor, also as a member of the Governor's Council and as having been succeeded on leaving for England.

Dongan also mentions one Vaughton as half-brother to John Sprag, and as having come over with the Governor, who took a friendly interest in him and aided him financially in his trading operations; also that Vaughton in a fracas with one Riddell, was stabbed but recovered and afterwards with Spragg interceded for release of Riddell and his goods which had been seized by Customs Authorities.

1686-7 Feb. 22. Dongan requests that Mr. Spragg be sent back speedily but Spragg never returned.

1686-7, Mar. 2. Dongan commends Spragg to the King himself and requests that he be given a yearly allowance and be returned soon, "things being much at a stand until he returns."

1687, July 26. J. A. Graham, New York, writes to Mr. Spragg in England.

1687, Mar. 6. John Spragg and Thomas Dongan sign a petition in behalf of Thomas Barcar for land on Cow-neck. (Records, 2d vol., p. 59.)

(The John Spragg who is mentioned in the 2d vol. at later dates, 1696-7, 1694, 1701, 1707, was prob. son or grandson of Edward.)

971. JOSEPH<sup>1</sup> SPRAGG of Staten Island, immigrant, b. in England; d. ———; m. ———.

Had three sons and perhaps daughters:

- i. Jacob<sup>2</sup> appears on county records as early as 1729.
- ii. John<sup>2</sup>.
- iii. Edward<sup>2</sup>.

Had two grandsons and prob. granddaughters:

William<sup>3</sup>, whose name appears on county records in 1767.

Joseph<sup>3</sup>, whose name appears on county records in 1772.

DESCENDANTS OF JOSEPH<sup>1</sup>.

Andrew, m. June 28, 1800, Catherine Prior.

Jacob, m. July 12, 1800, Margaret Wood.

These marriages are found in old records of St. Andrews Church, S. I. (From Hist. Staten Island, N. Y., 1877, J. J. Clute, p. 426.) The tradition in the family is that there were three brothers, Joseph, Edward and John, who emigrated simultaneously from England, but the date of that event is lost; it must have been early, however, for we read of Jacob Spragg, who must have been a son of Joseph<sup>1</sup>, as early as 1729.

Of these brothers, Joseph took up his abode on Staten Island; of the other two, one (prob. Edward) settled on Long Island (Hempstead) and one in Rhode Island (sic.)

William, whose name we find on the county records in 1767, and Joseph in 1772, were undoubtedly grandsons of the original Joseph, who had three sons, Jacob, John and Edward.

Notwithstanding, the family has not increased very rapidly, and at present numbers but few families, mostly confined to the town of Westfield. The family now on Staten Island are called Sprague.

(Finney Sprague notes.)

*Who was this James Sprague?

SIR EDWARD SPRAGGE, ADMIRAL OF THE BLUE.

He was born in Flanders. His father, Capt. Lichfield Spragge, was Governor of Roscommon and was slain in his Majesty's service against the rebels. His mother was Mary, second daughter of Edward Legge, Vice President of Munster. His grandfather was Capt. John Spragge, an army officer of Queen Elizabeth's time.

At one time Sir Edward Spragge fought a sea fight near Tangier. He was the naval favorite of James II and was knighted on board the Triumph, July 1, 1665. On the 11th of August, 1673, he had an engagement with the Dutch fleet off the coast of Holland. With Van Tromp Spragge fought ship to ship. Two vessels sank under him and when passing to the third a shot sunk his boat and he was drowned, "bearing the character of a gallant officer and an accomplished gentleman." He was buried Sept. 23, 1673, in St. Michael's Chapel in Westminster Abbey. Pepys' Diary says of him, "He told a good story, and sang a good song at dinner." Dryden in his Annus Mirabilis wrote:

"With him went Sprag, as bountiful as brave, Whom his high courage to command has brought."

His will, dated May 22, was proved Nov. 3, 1673, and commences with the characteristic words, "being now ready to engage the enemy." He is said by Le Neve to have married in Brussels before 1660, but his wife's name is not in the will. He mentions his sister Anne, wife of Hugh Kelly; cousin John Spragge; Dorothy Dennis and his children by her, viz. William, Edward and Dorothy Spragge. The latter was baptized, Mch. 20, 1669-70, at St. Giles Cripplegate Church, London. The son William was a Captain of Marines in 1697. The portrait of Sir Edward (by Lawrence Crosse) is owned by the Duke of Buccleuch, and is in his collection at Montague House, London. It is said that he was a Roman Catholic.

The Spragge arms reproduced is gule, a fesse between three trefoils. Crest out of a naval crown, a demi-lion crowned.

The connection, if any, of Sir Edward Spragge with the American families is not known.
